DESPERATE JOB BY TWO ROBBERS

Saloon Keeper Felled in His Own Place.

CASH REGISTER WAS LOOTED
ONE OF THE MEN WORE A HAND-KERCHIEF MASK.

Frank Reichmann Reached for His Revolver When Ordered to Throw Up His Hands but the Highwaymen Were Too Quick.

Frank Reichmann's saloon at 3847 Easton avenue was the scene of a desperate robbery at 1 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Two men walked into the place while the proprietor was preparing to close up for the night.

Reichmann says the two men entered one of the side doors and immediately demanded that he throw up his hands. He had been expecting such a visitation sooner or later and had made preparations to give up without a struggle. In a hurry to get near the cash register, which was loaded revolver, and when the order to elevate his hands was given he started to comply, with his weapon in one of his hands.

One struck Reichmann over the head with his revolver and the other took $60 from the cash register. The men picked up their revolver and made their escape before their dazed victim could make further resistance.

Reichmann recovered from the effect of the blow to the head. He notified the police, but they far no knew to the robbers identity or where they went.

The Reichmann saloon, in its door arrangement, is inviting to the "hold-up" fraternity. It is located at the junction of three streets. There is a door at the junction end of the wedge and a door on each side. The bar is movement the side doors.

The robbers saw the movement and were up in time to touch the trigger. One man clutched him over the head and he sank back unconscious.

Reichmann says he can give no description of the men, except that one was masked with a handkerchief. The other wore no mask.

ACTRESS WAS EXHAUSTED.
Carrie Peltz Painted While Doing a Vaudeville Turn.

Carrie Peltz, who is doing a vaudeville turn at Forest Park Highlands this week, sank unconscious to the floor while doing her act at 10 o'clock Monday night. The curtain was rung down and the young woman was carried off.

Murphy of Manchester and Sulphur avenues, said that Miss Peltz was exhausted after her performance, but she was all serious. He said she would be able to appear Tuesday night.

PRESENT MITCHELL RETURNED FROM NEW YORK TODAY.

Awaiting him at headquarters was Harry White, secretary of the National Garment Workers, who is also a member of the National Civic Federation. Mr. White held an extended conference with the miners' chief.

Plans of financial aid were discussed, but nothing definite was done until the miners announced that they will accept the proposed aid.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK. July 8.—Jack Harper tried to redeem himself in the eyes of the St. Louis baseball public by pitching winning ball in the opening game of to-day's double-header between the Browns and Detroit's former park.

The pitcher, appearing in his first game in warming up he displayed last season's speed and curves. He was confident of himself and left off the famous blue sleeves and appeared in white. "Jiggs" Donahue did not receive a favorable impression on Detroit's former visit, was selected to start for the Detroit and his pants were handled by Burdette.

The weather was sizzling hot and the game was made ideal by reason of Monday's rain. When Ursine "Bill" O'Laughlin called play at 2 o'clock several hundred of the faithful were in the grandstand, the grandstand being filled with more than half filled. The bleachers presented a somber appearance. Everybody had a good time.

In the grand stand all men donned their coats and the colored shirts mingled with the ladies' bright dresses made an attractive picture.

St. Louis—Burkett got four balls.

FIRST INNING—For Detroit, Harper could not locate the plate, and Hartman fanned him twice. Hartman went to third. Dillon hit to Wallace, who, with Padden and Anderson, effected a double. Hartman hit to Burdette and got a base on balls. Caseys hit to Wallace and found the ball waiting at Andersonville. Out.

In the grand staircase the house will be a magnificent hallway 100 feet long and marble and onyx.

The grand staircase with its gilded columns, colored cathedral glass windows, smooth vine ornamentals, galleries and columns, reaching to the ceiling of the second floor, are to cost about $100,000. The grand staircase and the artists and sculptors of the day will be called upon to decorate the staircase, which is to be the most elaborate in the new home.

It is the intention of the architects to make the Schwab home the finest in New York.

It will combine the chief characteristics of the Chateau du Bois and the Little Trianon, two of the most luxurious and artistic homes ever built, and therefore, be on the order of French residence.

AGENTS VISIT THE COAL FIELDS GOVERNMENT IS ALSO SAID TO BE INTERESTED

Theory Is That It Will Bring Its Influence Through the Department of Labor to Bear on Situation.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., July 8.—The National Civic Federation, which tried so hard to bring about an arbitration coal miners' strike, has not exhausted all its means in an effort to bring about peace in the anthracite coal fields.

The investigation which was started soon after the miners laid down their picks is still in progress, and it is understood that the federal government, through the department of labor, is assisting in this work.

A few weeks ago Walter E. Weyl, a representative of the department of labor at Washington, and Prof. John R. Commons of the Civic Federation, made a tour of the anthracite coal regions in quest of information.

They paid particular attention to the questions of the cost of labor for mining coal, the selling price of coal, and also as to whether the increase of wages of the mine workers has kept pace with the increased price of the necessities of life.

These men interviewed all persons who are familiar with conditions in the coal region. Their work was done quietly.

While in Wilkes-Barre, Prof. Commons held a long conference with President Mitchell, during which he was shown a copy of Mr. Mitchell's statement relating to the letters of the coal operators.

Mr. Weyl, who is a statistician in the department of labor, contributed to the report made by Commissioner Carroll D. Wright to President Roosevelt.

The plan thus formulated cannot be learned here. The seal of secrecy has been placed over it, and those who have any knowledge of the work that is going on.

HOT WEATHER COMING;

POST-DISPATCH

FREE ICE IS NEEDED

Thousands of Lives Will Be Saved This Summer by Ice Bought With the Contributions of the Generous Citizens of St. Louis Who Make the Post-Dispatch Their Fiscal Agent.

The hot weather is on. From this time until autumn heat will reign, and ice will be as necessary as air to all, rich or poor. To prosperous persons ice is not much of a financial consideration, but to the needy, while it is necessary, is also impossible, if it were not for the free ice fund and the contributions of the generous persons for whom the Post-Dispatch acts as the agent and distributor of bounty.

Monday, the first really hot day of the season, the Post-Dispatch first broached its plan of campaign for the relief of the needy sick and the babies.

Tuesday the managers of the various charitable organizations, who will co-operate with the Post-Dispatch in the distribution of free ice, prepared their lists of names of those who need ice absolutely necessary, and who could not have it except for the fund. These lists will be added to as cases of necessity come to the attention of those interested in searching out such as are in need of relief.

In the beginning at least 1000 deliveries of free ice will be made daily. From 10 to 20 pounds of ice will be delivered to a family, according to the number of mouths of illness, while ice is an absolute necessity in order to save life, ice will be delivered freely in accordance with the demand.

Where there are babies and small children, to whom ice is absolutely necessary to preserve life and keep food free from taint, there will be no stint.

The delivery of ice to those who must have it will be nothing that savors of charity.

Even to whom free ice is delivered will be regarded as a customer of the ice dealer who makes the delivery.

The person who accepts Post-Dispatch free ice is as good as his neighbor who is so fortunate as to be able to pay for it out of his own earnings. The free ice fund is equally the beneficiary of the generosity of citizens of St. Louis who are privileged to help their less fortunate brothers and sisters. The Post-Dispatch is glad to be of assistance to both, as their next news will show.

As last year, the need of ice to both rich and poor will be very great—and particularly to those who are ill and to the children.

The hot weather has come, and the only thing that will make it bearable is ice.

If you have ever gone through a summer's day in the height of the hot weather without ice you probably know what it is to suffer. Imagine the same conditions if you were ill, or means suffering in its most extreme form.

In all big cities hundreds of young lives are destroyed every summer for lack of ice.

Hundreds of persons ill of fevers and other diseases, who are too poor to buy ice, die because of their poverty.

The Post-Dispatch free ice fund is designed to save these lives and to relieve the misery attendant upon the lack of ice.

Last year the fund relieved much misery. This year it will relieve more.

Last year the idea was a month behind the system's beginning. This summer the Post-Dispatch has worked out a plan that is business-like and systematic. The subscriber and the beneficiary will be equally protected, and the system, as outlined in the Post-Dispatch, will be a worthy person for whom the benefaction intended should be neglected, and not a dollar wasted.

Never in the history of benefactions in St. Louis has one so worthy and necessary been presented to the people.

There will be thousands of lives to be preserved this summer. Only ice will do it.

The Post-Dispatch, in acting as the agent of the generous and charitable persons of the city, assumes the labor and the responsibility cheerfully.

What will you give to the free ice fund?

Send your contributions to the Post-Dispatch, where it will be gratefully acknowledged in the columns of the paper.

The Post-Dispatch free ice fund starts the campaign with a balance from last year's fund of $1081.27.

The season of distribution will be much longer this summer, and much more money will be needed to carry it through successfully.

Make your contribution as large as you can—and make it promptly.

ASHLEY PLAYGROUND OPEN

Formal Inaugural Exercises Will Be Held Later In The Week.

The playground in the rear of the Ashley building was opened to the children of the neighborhood Monday morning. No exercises were held. These will take place later in the week when the enrollment is near completion. Over 200 children registered Monday.

In the morning girls were admitted. Mrs. E. P. Johnson will have their care. William Bush, senior of Washington University, will have charge of the boys, who will come in the afternoon.

Capt. E. J. Phillips, the originator of the playground idea in St. Louis, his wife, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Hepburn, Secretary Layman of the Civic Improvement League and several others were guests of the Ashley playground on its opening day.

The grounds is still in need of a high board fence.

Those interested in the playgrounds are encouraged by the effect already produced by its presence. Since work was begun upon one of the largest tenement houses in the neighborhood has been kalsomined Monday.

The enrollment at the other playgrounds are to be taken by the vacation schools. To Ferguson on Monday; to the Club of the Clovers, Wednesday; to the Club of Tuxedo, one day; to Forest Park Highschool as the guests of the amusement company for one week, where the children will see performances and enjoy rides.

TURNED ON THE WATER COOLER

A half-dozen of the workers and members of the congregation of the Gospel Tabernacle in the nearby streets were arrayed in the First District Court Tuesday morning as witnesses against John Cassidy and Patrick Miles, both of 147 Convent street, who are alleged to have been the instigators and principals in a free fight in the canvas enclosure Sunday afternoon.

Thomas L. Baker was the chief witness and the man who had borne the brunt of the conflict. He and Cassidy Miles and an unknown man, all of them in a state of semi-intoxication, entered the tent and inquired for the "preacher."

Upon being told that he was absent, the three men demanded lemonade, said Baker, and when informed that there was none, turned on the faucet, letting the water run out in a steady stream.

Baker turned them away, but there was a heated argument and in a moment chairs were seized and Baker was on the floor, while the two men, one of whom was a jeweler of 122 South Broadway ran for an officer, but before the bluecoat Miss Ida Elfer of 128 South Tuckerman and Miss Julia Truesdale of 122 Soulard were called and restraining them and corroborated Baker's story. One man escaped, but Cassidy and Miles were arrested.

The men claimed they meant no harm and only entered the tent to get a glass of lemonade, which was advertised as free, and that Baker began the disturbance by threatening to assault Cassidy with stones.

OPEN AIR REMEDY FOR CONSUMPTION

INDIANA MAN CURED HIMSELF OF PHthisis.

PATIENT IS KEPT OUTDOORS

Treatment Can Be Taken at Home, if Doors and Windows Are Removed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 8.—Profound interest has been shown over the case of Charles E. Davis of Derby, Ind., who cured himself of consumption by open-air home treatment, and the state board of health is being deluged with letters from consumers from every quarter. Many in the advanced stages desire to adopt the treatment at their homes.

According to the statistics of the state board there were 1,000 cases of consumption in Indiana last year, with an annual death rate of 5000. Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the board, said that it was the best form of open-air treatment, as it is the consensus of opinion, derived from interviews with many physicians, that there is no medicine or medical treatment yet discovered that of itself will cure consumption. The best treatment, in the most medical science can do, is to supplement and aid an open-air treatment.

A man, however, who believes that the climate of Indiana is too changeable and severe for beneficial results, they will, if it is necessary, change their place of residence.

England and Germany, where much treatment is being given with marked results.

Muslin Stay

Door

All of them who favor open-air treatment concede that living out in the daytime, or sleeping out at night, will not suffice. The patient must stay out doors. This rule is enforced in the Massachusetts State Sanatorium, where patients are kept all the time sleeping out in the snow, and the temperature of the air varies from three to ten feet. Patients taking treatment at home, continuing out of bed during the day, take off the doors of their offices and the doors of their hives. Dr. Hurty suggests that where a patient is able to sleep outside, it would be better to have a house consisting of a box-like house, with one side entirely open, and with windows on the other side, so that the patient can be eliminated, as the open side will furnish enough ventilation for the patient, and there should also be a projection on the open side to turn the rain and keep the patient dry.

Under the open-air treatment the patient should place his bed there and live there, but not sleep there. He should go to a house where he can take a morning shower bath and go through the vigorous rubbing of the body, which will probably also take his meals and change clothing. There should be a corner in the three-sided open house where the patient can sit and undress.

Patient Seasored

Cold Weather.

The house built upon this plan will be comfortable during the summer and fall months, by which time the consumptive will be seasoned gradually for his winter experience; the blood by this time becoming oxygenated, to impart anew heat that the patient has never known. An ordinary cot, or one with wire springs, is preferable to a bed, and the use of bedclothes can be used, as long as experience shows that lighter bedclothes are preferable. The patient in winter can use a nightcap to protect him, but when he goes to bed he must warm the face and ears never freeze.

This was demonstrated by Mr. Davis at Derby, who slept out in the cold, with his nose in the gorse during the coldest nights of last winter, and was subject to a more severe damp condition than Indiana people can find in their neighborhood.

If a consumptive is not able to build a sanatorium such as described, he can get a good habitation, but the sides should not be pinned down too closely. If a tent is not obtainable, then an open porch is a very obtainable substitute, and the use of doors and windows off their sleeping chamber and thus secure open air facilities.

It is advised that the utmost care should be taken in preparing food valuable for nutritive qualities.

Eighteen-year-old Boy Missing.

Sidney Edmunds, 18 years old, is reported as missing from his home in New York City.

Sidney is 5 feet 4 inches tall, weighs 115 pounds and has a freckled face. When last seen he was wearing a light-colored striped shirt and red socks. Sidney is a stranger in St. Louis and his relatives have asked the police to locate him.

THREATEN TO USE THE TORCH

"It Would Be Better Had We Been

They Write Home.

HONORABLE Sir.—Porto Ricans emigrants in the Hawaiian Islands ask protection and respectfully address you, the president, and the public with the ill treatment we are receiving at the hands of the planters here.

"There are Porto Ricans, the body of a dozen, Porto Rico found a place in a clam room. The man had been dead four days. The matter was reported to the authorities, who said that all the Porto Ricans who die are to be thrown into the cane fields for fertilizer.

Porto Ricans

Have No Redress.

"As we could do nothing but obey the order, we buried the body near the field. We made no complaint, because the government here is combined with the planters, and if anything happens to a Porto Rican we have no redress.

Inferious people think we are slaves, and they treat us as such.

"We have no protection here, we ask that the government return us to the port of Porto Rico from which we embarked, and we will have to use the torch."

We have received nothing that was promised, and we find ourselves even worse off than we were in 1897. We are robbed of our money, where we have to live in this country, where morality is unknown.

"When we go to their houses they throw us out, closing the doors in our faces, if we do not close them."

The only people here who receive us are the Portuguese.

"We have no protection here, we ask that the government return us to the port of Porto Rico from which we embarked, and we will have to use the torch."

We have received nothing that was promised, and we find ourselves even worse off than we were in 1897. We are robbed of our money, where we have to live in this country, where morality is unknown.

"When we go to their houses they throw us out, closing the doors in our faces, if we do not close them."

The only people here who receive us are the Portuguese.

"As we could do nothing but obey the order, we buried the body near the field. We made no complaint, because the government here is combined with the planters, and if anything happens to a Porto Rican we have no redress.

Inferious people think we are slaves, and they treat us as such.

DARING CONVICT HAS DISAPPEARED

Harry Tracy Has Eluded Militia and Posse.

FORTY INDIANS JOIN PURSUIT

BUT THEY WATCH ONE LOCALITY IN VAIN.

Authorities Are Puzzled Now and Have No Definite Plans, Although They Are Still Searching Puget Sound.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 8.—Since Tracy, the escaped convict, left the Johnson home at Port Madison Saturday, absolutely no real clue has been discovered to his whereabouts.

The Indians are watching for the murderer in Kitsap County, and the coast of the lower sound is being patrolled. The authorities are waiting for the next appearance of the convict. They can make no movement until he again shows himself.

For the time being Tracy has vanished as completely as if swallowed by the earth. The last news from the Seattle jail penitentiary arrived last night. The same to Seattle too late to be taken to Port Madison, as at first intended.

Unless the murderer shows up again in Kitsap County the bounds will not be taken across the sound.

Never since Tracy escaped from the Seattle penitentiary has he been nearer liberty.

Investigation today showed that the reports of Tracy's presence in Kitsap County were erroneous.

The man seen by the Indian women of the Port Madison reservation proved to be a crippled beach-comber.

He carried a rifle and in several ways bore a slight resemblance to the murderer.

The report that a woman was robbed 10 miles beyond Sidney by a man resembling Tracy turned out to be fiction. The boat found on the beach at Miller's Bay belongs to a rancher named Samuel Horley. It had not been moved from its position.

Before guarding the different points threatened by Tracy, and waiting for his next appearance, the authorities of the different counties on the sound have no definite plans.

They are running each report down and looking for facts.

FORGER CRANK AGAIN ACTIVE

Million Dollar Claim Against Rice Estate Latest Outbreak of Peccular Crook.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 8.—The forger crank is at it again. This time he has a demand for $1,200,000 against William M. Rice, the Texas millionaire killed by his valet, Jones, for which murder Albert Patrick is under death sentence, and Samuel J. Tilden. However, he only asks that $20,000 be collected on his note.

This forger is one of the remarkable creatures of the land. Frequently after a long time he disappears from public view for 20 years old have been received through the mail by New York lawyers. They usually come from Wilkesbarre, Pa., and are the abouts. This last one is from Wilkesbarre, and the letter accompanying it is signed E. Whiting. The letters are in Tilden's name and the postmaster forged, but the body of the paper and the ink is old and faded. Their signatures are attested by George L. Stearns.

Mr. Stearns' signature is one of the follow's favorites. It appears on nearly every favor note. Late John C. Gandy's name was frequently forged by him and notes to the amount of $300,000 turned up after Mr. Rice's death.

This man has been operating for ten years but it is not believed he has collected any money by his forgeries.

ROMAN EMBASSY IS ACCUSED

Father Cushing of Denver Wishes to Show President That Diplomats Were Negligent.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., July 8.—Father John H. Cushing of the Roman Catholic diocese of Denver, who failed in his attempt to see President Roosevelt Monday, will make another effort to gain an audience with the President on Thursday.

Father Cushing wishes to file complaint with the President that the ambassador to the United States at Rome is negligent.

The Ambassador to the United States at Rome says that he has been informed that there is no more than one kilo of killing a cat.

The citizens of the city of Philadelphia are now sending their money to the Red Cross.

With other priests Father Cushing went to the office of the Italian Consul to protest the controversy with the bishop. The priests said that they had been driven out of the diocese by the bishop because they had not voted for him.

SENSLESS ON THE STREET

Edward Kelley Accuses a Saloon Keeper of Having Assaulted Him—Wm. Grupp Arrested.

Edward Kelley is at the City Hospital in a serious condition with fractured skull.

William Grupp, a saloonkeeper at 1701 Market street, is a Four Courts prisoner charged with being responsible for Kelley's injuries.

Kelley was found at 8 o'clock Monday night unconscious on the pavement at Seventh and Market streets. When he was removed to the City Hospital he was in a state of stupor.

It was 6 o'clock Tuesday morning before the doctors could restore him to consciousness.

When he awoke he was given five dollars by Kelley and he asked for his change and Grupp became abusive. There was a struggle between them as he was leaving the place when Grupp struck him with some missile from behind.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY IN FLAT.

Former Convict Killed Wife, Friend and Himself.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, July 8.—Karl Von Boeckman, recently an inmate of the Massachusetts penitentiary, shot and killed his wife and son in a flat at 1701 Market street, a friend, and after a family quarrel.

Von Boeckman's wife caused his arrest on the charge of desertion. When he returned to his flat and found his wife, whom the woman had asked to secure police protection for her future, the triple tragedy followed.

PE-RU-NA

STRENGTHENS AND RESTORES

A Congressman's Wife Uses Peru-na for Nervousness.

Mrs. ADELAIDE CLAIRE, 46 West Forty-first street, New York City, N. Y., writes:

"Peru-na strengthens and restores the nervous system, builds up your worn out constitution and is just what women need who are afflicted with weakness of nerve. Kindly hear nothing but praise for Peru-na on all sides. Many of the members of my family have used it and all stand by it as a wonderful health giver."—Miss Adelaide Claire.

Hon. Joseph B. Crowley, Congressman from Illinois, writes from Robinson Hill, the following praise for the great catastrophic tonic, Peru-na: Congressman Crowley says:

"Mrs. Crowley has taken a number of bottles of Peru-na on account of nervous trouble. It has proven a strong tonic and lasting cure. I can cheerfully recommend it."—J. B. Crowley.

Catarrh a Systemic Disease.

Catarrh is a systemic disease, curable only by systemic treatment. A regular course of Peru-na will almost cure the depressed nerve centers. This is what Peru-na does. Peru-na immediately invigorates the nerve centers, which give vitality to the mucous membranes. The catarrh is removed.

Peru-na cures the catarrh wherever located. Peru-na is not a guess nor an experiment—it is an absolute scientific certainty. Peru-na has no substitutes—no placebo. Insist upon having Peru-na.

June 25—Robbed house of Pat McGuire, near Lancer, while owner was at church, taking clothes and cash.

June 26—Robbed house near Kelso, Wash.

June 27—Robbed house on main road, discovered and gave him back.

June 28—Slipped through strong gates leading roads near Clarkton during the night.

July 1—Convicts seen on Northern Pacific at Tenino, about 30 miles from Tacoma. Tracy separated from Merrill, saying later that he had killed him in a duel. If Tracy killed Merrill the number of his murders is nine. Riding one horse he had stolen until it was disabled, he stole another and passed through Olympia.

July 2—Tracy robbed six men at South Bay, near Olympia, and forced four, including Capt. Clark of the Oregon State Police, to park him on Puget sound. He told Clark he had killed Merrill in a duel and that he never would be taken alive. He landed at night at Seattle and started toward Clancy's saloon.

July 3—At 2:30 in the afternoon he encountered the advance guard of the Seattle posse at Bothell, six miles from Seattle. In the battle Deputy Sheriff Charles Raymond of Snohomish County was killed. Deputy Sheriff Jack Williams of Seattle fatally wounded, and Carl Anderson and Louis Seefeld, newspaper reporters, were wounded. Returning toward Seattle, in the afternoon of the 4th he killed Neil Rawley, deputy game warden. Rawley died the same morning.

July 4—Order was issued by Gov. McBride for two companies of militia to assist in the hunt for Tracy. The desperate convict was seen on the railroad track going north from Seattle. He has a large supply of ammunition, and his aim is so deadly that only a strong posse would dare attack him. A reward of $5000 has been offered for him, dead or alive.

July 5—Whipping pose at Bothell and escaped after being surrounded.

July 6—Arrived at Olympia.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

"Muggy" Appears as Manager, and Captain for the Gotham Team of Tail Enders.

History of His Connection With Cardinals and His Eccentric Doings in St. Louis Balldom.

John J. "Muggy" McGraw has jumped back into the National League again, and this time he lands up in Gotham, and will appear in the role of manager and captain for the Giants, who have a percentage of .323 and who are safely entrenched in last place in the race for the pennant.

McGraw, throws up his job as manager of the Baltimore club in the American League and is now in New York, where it is announced, that he will draw a salary of $10,000.

McGraw occupies a unique niche in baseball history. When Baltimore was in the National League and Ned Hanlon was the manager, McGraw, then a journeyman, McGraw, Kelly, Dernier, Dahlgren, etc., made a runaway with the pennant and McGraw was one of the bright and shining lights. Baltimore did not support the team as Wise Noddy thought she should, and the team was transferred to Brooklyn.

When McGraw's Stock Rose.

McGraw remained in Baltimore, and with a few cast-offs, and a lot of youngsters, formed a new club for the Monumental City. McGraw's stock as a baseball general rose when, with a team that it was predicted, would oppose last place, he finished in the top division and gave all of the leaders a scare.

This was during the first year of the Robinson management of the St. Louis team. Mr. Robinson, the year before, had brought the favorite old Cleveland team to St. Louis and great things were expected of it. Fortune did not favor the transfer, and McKeown, Childs and some of the other players went back. Oliver Tebeau, who had been reckoned as one of the great baseball captains, became discouraged. His confidence, and there were internal dissensions.

A new manager was deemed essential. When Mr. Robinson began dickering with McGraw, great things were predicted for the team that McGraw would be secured. Mr. Robinson spent one fortune for the release of McGraw and Robinson. Then he paid another fortune to these players for their services.

"A Hoodoo"

to the Cardinals.

Never for a day until within the past month has fortune favored the Cardinals since McGraw joined the team. "Muggy" demonstrated that he was out for the money alone. Lave Cross, the best third-base man in St. Louis is dead, and ever since was favorite, and placed on the bench when McGraw came. "Muggy" never played the long a whit better than did Lave, but because of his reputation as an organizer the popular player was released to Brooklyn and McGraw was attached to the St. Louis team.

McGraw was wise enough to try to preserve his reputation, and he did it at the expense of the man who was paying him the largest salary, and paid to a half player. McGraw refused to act as manager after Tebeau was given his release. McGraw would select the battery that was to work, but other than this he would assume no responsibility. He was out of the game often on account of injuries, and, on such occasions, he showed his lack of interest by patronizing the racetrack and keeping away from the ballpark.

When the season ended McGraw and Robinson, Jeannette, and they organized the Baltimore team of the National League. "Muggy" in that year succeeded in getting Mike Donlin to desert the Robins, who discovered him, and Donlin went with Baltimore. Keister, who was also a member of the St. Louis team, deserted at McGraw's solicitation.

Baltimore did not set the world afire, and McGraw's reputation as a general did not get much. Donovan took charge at St. Louis, where McGraw left off. After the high-salaried star deserted last year Donovan gathered a team devoid of reputation and has made it a real contender in the race.

McGraw Still

Receiving Injuries.

Between amputees, who will not stand for McGraw's aggressiveness (some call them "rowdy") methods, and injuries that he continues to receive, McGraw has been out of the game a good part of the present year.

McGraw either reaches out, and he wants to get as much as he can, or, if he reaches out, and thinks he can, he reaches into himself, and thinks he can, he reaches into himself, into winners. Scores of players have attempted to lead the Gish, and the tail end position, but Freed, as strong-headed in his way as Mc, is in his, and all baseballmen will want to interest the new deal as it unfolds.

McGraw still belongs to Mr. McGraw, according to baseball law, and St. Louis magnate chooses to obtrude, he may prove an important factor, though, is done with McGraw.

A. U. SWIMMING RACES

First of the Championship Events Will be held at Travers Island, N. Y., on Sunday.

NEW YORK. July 8.—The first swimming meet for the championship of the Athletic Union, will be held at Travers Island on Sunday.

Some of the best short-distance men in America have entered and promise a lively competition.

C. W. Stauffer of Reading, Pa., the noted record-breaker, will meet such fast N. Y. swimmers as Fred Ketcham, Charles Rutherford, F. A. Wanckel, etc. He was from England, the E. A. C. Cradock, G. W. Van and Columbia University, represented by J. W. Johnson, a whole party including Mr. and Mrs. Ketcham, and daughters, with driver, servants and cook, will number 10 persons.

It Will Be Held Under the Auspices of the Southwest Amateur Rowing Association on July 19 and 20.

Details for the Regatta of the Southwest Amateur Rowing Association, which will be held at Creve Couer Lake July 19-20, were made at the meeting of the association held Monday night at Bothman's, Sixth and Chestnut street.

Over 150 amateur oarsmen will participate in the races and representatives of eight clubs will enter the contests.

The program has been arranged to give all lovers of aquatic sports two days of pleasure.

Rowers from the two crack rowing clubs of Quincy, Ill., the North Side and South Side Clubs, will be contestants in the regatta and attempt to take the measure of the local crews.

There will be 29 medals and three cups to contest for.

The Gregg cup for single sculls, the Gregg cup for junior fours, and the Jacobi cup for double sculls will be the principal prizes.

The Southwest Regatta this year is exciting more interest than usual on account of the fact that the National Association of Amateur Rowing Clubs will meet in St. Louis July 19.

The meeting will probably be held in July, but the course has not been selected. Either the Mississippi river or Creve Couer Lake will be chosen.

It is interesting this week, the work will gradually be made harder. Big Joe Kennedy, a willing and fairly clever boxer, will assist brother Jack, who has been trained on the rolling hills of the great river, would stand a better show on the stream than they know best.

The champion from the Past, who usually rows in the hills, will probably prefer the lake, but Big Joe, Kennedy, who has been trained on the rolling hills of the great river, would stand a better show on the stream than they know best.

The annual Regatta and the National Regatta to be held next year have directed attention to the rowing clubs of St. Louis.

A half dozen clubs now have boathouses for two weeks, had the best opportunity to select their conditions. He is excited last week that he believed even then that the champion was ready to fight. He comes in from a climb up the stiff mountain trails, dripping with healthy perspiration, but with the least amount of fatigue, and has become quite proficient in both pastimes and seems to find relaxation in the friendlier atmosphere of the sport.

All who have seen Jeffries since he began training are unanimous in their praise of him.

Jimmy Britt, who was at the springs for two weeks, had the best opportunity to select his conditions. He is excited last week that he believed even then that the champion was ready to fight. He comes in from a climb up the stiff mountain trails, dripping with healthy perspiration, but with the least amount of fatigue, and has become quite proficient in both pastimes and seems to find relaxation in the friendlier atmosphere of the sport.

Fitz has been just as busy as the champion. The Cornishman has not only done plenty of work for his training, but has made himself with a husky set of gloves wielders, and the afternoons he comes to the springs to forward to the residents about Skaggs. The ex-champion's principal adviser is George Dawson, the former manager of the Los Angeles baseball club, who is assisted by Soldier Williams, a big, willing fighter, and Hank Grimes, the Los Angeles boxer, who has some reputation. At this early day Fitz boxes all three men in succession nearly every afternoon, which get him into shape for the bruising fight everybody expects the champion will have.

Even before he went into active training at the springs Fitz was in fairly good condition, but he was at the Olympic Club, San Francisco. That his outdoor life at the springs and the coming change of scene has gone through great improvement is known to all, and he is as broad as a berry, and he goes at his work like a real fighter. Mr. Mitchell, who spent several days with Fitz, says the only danger is that the trainer will be too hard on him. Fitz is a good fighter, and his trainers deny that anything to worry over. Jeffries suffers from a recurrence of the former trouble. The weather is bad, and he is unable to go away from heavy gym work, as he seems eager to keep going. The only unknown factor is that Jeffries is forced to nurse his left arm, which he injured some time ago, and while it is not yet fit to box, he is not able to do so. Fitz has been just as busy as the champion. The Cornishman has not only done plenty of work for his training, but has made himself with a husky set of gloves wielders, and the afternoons he comes to the springs to forward to the residents about Skaggs. The ex-champion's principal adviser is George Dawson, the former manager of the Los Angeles baseball club, who is assisted by Soldier Williams, a big, willing fighter, and Hank Grimes, the Los Angeles boxer, who has some reputation. At this early day Fitz boxes all three men in succession nearly every afternoon, which get him into shape for the bruising fight everybody expects the champion will have.

Wretched Hot Weather
Sufferers.
Paine's Celery Compound

SHOULD BE USED IN JULY AND AUGUST.

The extraordinary variable spring and early summer weather of the present year has been the cause of a vast amount of sickness in every part of our country. Strong men and women have been victims; the weak, rundown and sickly have suffered intensely, and many families now mourn the loss of near and dear ones.

The nervous, weak, rundown and debilitated should now devote their best energies and attention to health-building, so as to enable them to withstand the enervating effects of the approaching hot weather.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound will soon bring a return of true physical strength; the user will find complete purity and a better digestion will be corrected, and sweet, refreshing sleep will take the place of insomnia and irritability.

Paine's Celery Compound is doing a marvelous work for the sick and suffering at this time. It is the only preparation that possesses value and virtue for recruiting the strength and spent energies of weakly and sick people in summer time. The trial of one bottle will give you happy results.

WET CADET WON BEAUTY'S SMILE

KENTUCKY BOY SWAM FOR MISS GORDON'S HAT.

SHE CHALLENGED CHIVALRY

Student of Virginia Military Institute Plunged Into Waters After Head-gear and Tossed It to Land.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
RICHMOND, Va., July 8.—Cadet Garrison Mourning of Louisville got wet performing an act of gallantry to win a smile from Miss Nellie Gordon, the beautiful daughter of W. G. Gordon of this city.

Miss Gordon was one of a party visiting at the country house, near Cape Charles, of John S. Wise of New York. Many young cadets of the Virginia Military Institute paid homage to Miss Gordon and her friend, Miss Wise. The cadets took boats to go back to the institute, and the girl stood on the wharf and waved them adieu. As the boat was passing out, C. G. Wingfield of this city called to Miss Gordon:

"Throw your bonnet in the water and see which of these young gallants will jump for it."

Instantly the girl took it from her head and making a tiny soft white bundle of it, tossed it into the bay with all her strength. It had not touched the water before young Garrison, in his immaculate grey-blue suit, hat, neglige shirt, dotted tie and white duck-plummed bow from the front of the boat and swam for the dainty head gear. He rescued the bonnet before it was fairly wet, threw it back to the girl on the wharf, and sent a kiss of the hand after it. The gallant act was greeted with cheers from the rest of the party, and Miss Gordon won a rosy glow to the young Kentuckian swam to the boat and was rowed away.

Philologists in Session.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 8.—The thirty-fourth annual session of the American philological association will be held at Union College, Schenectady, today, Wednesday and Thursday. Reports from almost every college in the eastern and middle west will be presented. Forty-one papers on Latin and Greek philology will be read by specialists. Prof. A. T. West, of Princeton University, is president of the association.

ENGAGED.

Marriage is very largely an accident. In few cases do men or women set up a standard of manly or womanly excellence and choose by it. In most cases people become engaged as the result of propinquity or personal preference.

And so it often happens that the wife enters upon the obligations of matrimony just as thoughtlessly as she entered on the marriage relation, because no one had warned her of the dangers she faces.

Thousands of women become invalids for lack of knowledge of themselves. It is the large number of women that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes as a priceless boon, because it cures womanly ills.

"Favorite Prescription" establishes regularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration and cures female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

LAWSUIT INVOLVES 700.

Forty Lawyers Will Conduct Tennessee Land Litigation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 8.—A suit involving 700 litigants will shortly be brought into the State Court of Appeals, in which the right of possession of about 700 acres of the finest timber, oil and coal land in the state will be decided.

More than 40 lawyers have been retained.

The land over which the contest will be made lies in Overton, Pickett and Fentress counties.

WRITERS FORM KITCHEN CABINET

President Is Guided by Literary Men.

STRENUOUS POETS FAVERED

W. M. REEDY AMONG HONORED ADVISERS.

Lodge, Ware, Tarkington, Butler, Shaw and Holls are in Roosevelt Cabinet—Will Allen White Was a Recent Guest.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—William Allen White, the Emerson of Kansas, who wrote the immortal phrase about his state: "If Kansas will stop raising hell and begin raising corn she will be better off," and who is also the author of several magazine pieces about public men, also author of some books, dropped into Washington before the departure of the Roosevelt family, and, of course, ate dinner with the President.

"These are golden days for the literary men and especially the strenuous literary men. The White House latch-string is always out for them. Some of them are here to stay," the President has said.

When the question of the appointment of a new federal judge for the Indian District came up, the President has said, "When he is appointed, he will be a good man, who is essentially non-literary in his ideas, was paralyzed to hear the President's name mentioned."

"I would like to appoint Booth Tarkington's man." Fairbanks puffed his head with his fist and then dimly remembered that there is a man in Tarkington's name. Tarkington's name, however, had not made an impression on the President. He has other qualifications, also, but the fact that he is a writer brought him first to the attention of the President.

There was a frightful tangle in Missouri Republican politics this spring, yet for that matter, and the leaders of the various factions were telling the President many stories. The President looked the ground over and suggested that Mr. Reed ready to Washington to tell him why he had not run a weekly paper and had no reputation. He asked the people who obstruct his views of things and hanging those hides on the various fences, and who are in view of the populace. He came, was at the White House two days, and the President has said, "He is a good man."

When a new civil service commissioner was needed the President seized on Willard Sheppard, of Indianapolis, who is a writer as well as a civil service reformer.

DEMOCRATS MEET TO NAME JUDGES

Sheldon of Kirksville for Temporary Chairman.

TOM HENNING FOR SECRETARY

ALL DEPENDS ON THE ORDER OF BUSINESS.

If Three Candidates Are Nominated at Once, It Is Said the Old Judges Will Have a Chance.

JUDGE W. W. GRAVES.
Of Bates County, candidate for nomination for Judge of Supreme Court.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 8.—At a meeting of the state committee Nat M. Sheldon of Kirksville was elected temporary chairman. T. C. Henning of St. Louis secretary and W. S. Chambliss of Cole County, Frank Mitchell of De Soto and Homer Osburn of St. Louis were also secretaries. J. M. Kirby of Springfield was elected sergeant-at-arms. Sheldon beat Judge Williams of Booneville for chairman. The vote was 20 to 27.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 8.—The Democratic judicial convention met here this morning at 10 o'clock.

In welcoming the delegates C. W. Hamlin, Democratic nominee for Congress in the Seventh district, said among other things:

"The gates of our city are always open to our neighbors and friends, regardless of their political or religious beliefs, but doubly welcome are those representing the principles of freedom and the trusts and other commercial harlots."

"We appreciate the fact that you gentlemen are here representing a party that stands for certain principles of government, and would and does prefer the humiliation of defeat rather than sacrifice principles."

"We esteem it fortunate and to our glory to go down in defeat with our people's leader holding aloft the platform of principle of the Democracy, than to win by merciful harlots."

"I am glad you are here. I want my Republican friends to see the men who represent the party which the most who have received a state in debt $50,000,000, with the rate of taxation 50 cents on the one dollar, and the state but before the next year crowds the old one over the precipice of the wedding on an elaborate scale."

It is a union of millions.

Mrs. Lila Vanderbilt Sloane, the last of the trio of Sloane girls to be married, is a romance about this love affair.

Miss Sloane and Mr. Field met at home in Biltmore, and they will go to Biltmore on their wedding trip. After remaining there for a time they will stay until October, and then sail for an extended trip to Europe.

Bridesmaids were Miss Florence Twombly, Miss Frederica Webb, Miss Evelyn Sloane, Miss Marion Haven, Emily Haven and Miss Marion Haven. The maid of honor was Miss Frederica Webb. They were all dressed in white, each wearing a string of pearls and diamonds upon the last of Mr. Sloane's daughters to be married.

The men and those at home like them are the men who have made the name of our family, the men who are successful, loved, yet remembered with emotion.

Missouri, the state that sits enthroned and at whose feet are prostrate the other states, is the magnificence Louisiana Purchase, implying that the secret of her growth and power lies over her importance and wisdom is the one word that is the solution of all—Democracy.

Practically all the delegates got in by 8 a.m. and voted, and the session was opened with politeness, all trying to find out the sentiment with reference to candidates.

As this program is in full swing, it is more probable that Judge Sherwood will be defeated and either Fox or Woodson nominated. The prevailing opinion is that Fox will be the man. The Sherwood men, however, do not seem to be defeated, but claim the judge will be nominated.

The strong lobby support for Sherwood seems to indicate that the enemies did not seem to have developed.

The order of business remains the chief topic of discussion, and if the belief is strong that the three old judges will win, it is strong that the three old judges will win, after going around the world that the state administration for Burton, Fox and Woodson. However, Vailant is looked upon as so strong that any effort of that sort would fail.

ENGLAND COULD HAVE SHIPS

Pierpont Morgan Offers All in the Combine to Her Disposal for Fifty Years.

LONDON, July 8.—In the House of Commons yesterday the Irish leader spoke to the admiral, H. C. Arthur. Pierpont Morgan offered to place all the British ships at the disposal of the admiralty for the next five years on certain terms.

He added that the offer had not yet been accepted because it could only be dealt with in relation to British shipping generally and the Atlantic trade position which the government was carefully considering.

GAVE HIS LIFE FOR ANOTHER.

CHICAGO, July 8.—A peculiar accident occurred today in which one man nearly lost his life in vain endeavor to save a friend from death. John Guerin had lived at a boarding house on Washington Avenue, committed suicide last evening by turning on the gas in his bedroom.

Hiram Stover, who occupied the adjacent room, was awakened by the smell of the gas and rushing into the hall, decided the gas came from his friend's room. He rushed to the door and, without response, Stover broke open the door. The gas rising out of the bedroom was lit by the hall light, and a terrific explosion followed. Stover was severely injured. The injured man was taken to the hospital. Guerin was dead when found.

MISS LILA VANDERBILT SLOANE BECOMES W. B. O. FIELD'S BRIDE

MRS. WILLIAM BRADHURST OSGOOD FIELD.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LENOX, Mass., July 8.—The wedding of Miss Lila Vanderbilt Sloane and William Bradhurst Osgood Field, which took place in Trinity Church today was one of the most brilliant events in the history of this fashionable resort.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. William Bradhurst Osgood Field, who were the hosts of the wedding on an elaborate scale.

It is a union of millions.

Mrs. Lila Sloane, the last of the trio of Sloane girls to be married, is a romance about this love affair.

Miss Sloane and Mr. Field met at home in Biltmore, and they will go to Biltmore on their wedding trip. After remaining there for a time they will stay until October, and then sail for an extended trip to Europe.

Bridesmaids were Miss Florence Twombly, Miss Frederica Webb, Miss Evelyn Sloane, Miss Marion Haven, Emily Haven and Miss Marion Haven. The maid of honor was Miss Frederica Webb. They were all dressed in white, each wearing a string of pearls and diamonds upon the last of Mr. Sloane's daughters to be married.

The men and those at home like them are the men who have made the name of our family, the men who are successful, loved, yet remembered with emotion.

Missouri, the state that sits enthroned and at whose feet are prostrate the other states, is the magnificence Louisiana Purchase, implying that the secret of her growth and power lies over her importance and wisdom is the one word that is the solution of all—Democracy.

Practically all the delegates got in by 8 a.m. and voted, and the session was opened with politeness, all trying to find out the sentiment with reference to candidates.

As this program is in full swing, it is more probable that Judge Sherwood will be defeated and either Fox or Woodson nominated. The prevailing opinion is that Fox will be the man. The Sherwood men, however, do not seem to be defeated, but claim the judge will be nominated.

The strong lobby support for Sherwood seems to indicate that the enemies did not seem to have developed.

The order of business remains the chief topic of discussion, and if the belief is strong that the three old judges will win, it is strong that the three old judges will win, after going around the world that the state administration for Burton, Fox and Woodson. However, Vailant is looked upon as so strong that any effort of that sort would fail.

Process of Merging the Great Packing Interests Has Been Going On Until the End Has Been Achieved.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, July 8.—John D. Rockefeller, the chief of the great packing interests has the Food Trust in his hand.

All the great packing industries of the United States are in process of combination with Standard Oil money as a financial basis.

Another billion-dollar trust is in sight. The architect is Swift & Co. of Chicago.

Others, the largest wholesale provision firm in Great Britain, and known here as the Anglo-American Packing Co., colonels and other officers of him.

The process would have given credit to a first-class swindler show.

The process would have headed the mafioso, rearing a serenade. Some excursionists from St. Louis in the parade thought, "These soldiers don't dress very militarily," remarked one of the visitors.

Rockefeller had an easy time inside their tents, where watermelons and other things were eaten.

The suite of rooms on deck consists of a stateroom seven feet square, a sitting room seven by nine feet, a maid's room six by six feet, a small storage closet and laundry.

Two rooms occupy the starboard portion of the ship and are constructed in a fashion to fit the strongest winds. They are fitted with iron grating and will be warmer than the old cabin rooms under the quarter deck.

Captain Samuel W. Bartlett, the veteran officer who will command the vessel, the Windward, in and out of the frozen regions of the North on this trip, was the speaker.

The loading of provisions and other stores in the vessel will take about a day.

Since last night the vessel has been ready for the Arctic expedition.

The main improvements made by the crew of Newburgh, getting ready for the Arctic expedition.

After the vessel was built at Sunderland, England, it is still in the opinion of Capt. Bartlett a very sound ship.

On the trip will fly for the first time the Stars and Stripes.

This is Mrs. Peary's third trip and she says she is not afraid.

IN THE CITY REGISTER'S OFFICE

CITY HALL.

State of Missouri, City of St. Louis, ss:

Promised to appear before me, a Notary Public in and for the City of St. Louis, Mo., W. C. Steiglers, Business Manager of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who deposes and says that the regular editions of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch for the last three months (February, March and April, 1902), after deducting all copies returned by newsboys and copies left over, spoiled in printing and unaccounted for, averaged, Sunday $20,000, Daily and Sunday, $14,000. W. C. STEIGERS, Business Manager.

Swearn to and subscribed before me this 23d day of May, 1902. HARRY M. DUHRING, Notary Public, City of St. Louis, Mo.

(Seal) My term expires Aug. 14, 1905.

It may be that time is money because it flies so fast.

If Congress favors the trusts and part of the cabinet want them, how is even a strenuous President to do anything for the consumer?

The President will not receive "outfits" at Oyster Bay. We do so, the delegations would doubtless make the summer a warm one for him.

King Edward will knock out a number of interesting prophecies if he recovers and gets his crown on. Perhaps he has enough British obstinacy to do these things.

Arresting Republicans for illegal voting in Philadelphia and Democrats for illegal voting in Texas seems to show that great majorities are not necessarily purifiers.

ANDRE'S FATE.

The fate of Dr. Andre, the Swedish aeronaut who started for the north pole in a balloon July 11, 1897, seems to be revealed by the report of Dr. Ferries, published in the Post-Dispatch. But the whole truth will not be known until the aeronautical equipment recovered by the Hudson's Bay company is brought in to Winnipeg.

The polar region has a special fascination for some adventurous spirits, though it is hardly believed that it has many or interesting secrets. Sir John Franklin lost his life in the vain attempt to find the northwest passage through the frozen seas, and Kane, Greeley, Nansen and Peary have one after another endured the bitterest suffering in the hope that a work which might be fruitless might be accomplished.

The ill success of these brave men seems to have no discouraging influence. There is always somebody who is ready to try for the prize. Whether or not the pole will ever be reached is doubtful. And when it is, what will be the value of the achievement to humanity or science?

Congress is said to be much against President Roosevelt's second-term ambition, but there are some contrary people who will be sure to think that this fact, if fact it be, commands him to take the country.

A DIFFERENCE OF TEMPERAMENT.

Mr. Roosevelt's eagerness to get in line on questions of principles is in ludicrous contrast to Mr. Hanna's habit of getting delegates.

It is a contrast always edifying and instructive.

Mr. Roosevelt is sure the trusts constitute a real menace to free institutions unless well regulated and controlled. Therefore he proposes a policy of regulation and control for his party probably.

Mr. Hanna's views on the trusts are nebulous. Indeed, he has said that there are no trusts. And as for political principle—what's that? But he is convinced that there are delegates, and he has already made plans for the harvest in the South.

Getting principles, issues, talking about duties—that is what the amateur in the White House is doing. Getting delegates—that is what the astute senator from Ohio is doing.

It is a difference of temperament. Sometimes one method wins, sometimes another. But it is a safe wager that Mark Hanna smiles and smiles at the President's earnestness.

Postmaster opinions of our Philippine policy are to be taken with some grains of allowance. The postmasters are a large and respectable and more or less influential body, but some of them are stirred by an excess of patriotism throughout their term of office.

REGULAR ARMY AND MILITIA.

With the proclamation of civil government in the Philippines the reduction of the army from the maximum of 100,000 to the minimum of 60,000 is assured. The President speaks of it in his Pictorial speech as already practically accomplished.

The regular army does not represent the military strength of the country immediately available.

The militia of the islands must be reckoned with.

As set down in a recent statement of Adjutant-General Corbin, the militia force is as follows:

Generals and general staff 800
Regimental staff and field 2,410
Company officers 5,536
Noncommissioned officers 22,061
Musicians 4,469
Privates 80,424

Total 115,749

Much of this, however, may be considered mere "paper strength" and not fighting force.

Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania and Illinois and Ohio, which have complete and efficient organizations, have, together, 41,867.

Missouri is credited with 267 men. While the militia is not, perhaps, as well-organized and equipped as it should be, the schedule shows that in case of emergency the country would not be unprepared. An army of more than 100,000 men could be put in the field on very short notice.

Judges, governors and other officials in Virginia can no longer be legally bribed with railroad passes. A new law forbids any city or county official to accept any form of deadhead.

The passing of the free pass throughout the country would help our morals very much.

CHANGING THE SERPENT'S WHISKERS.

The season of summer excitability is upon us. No sooner was announced that "an actual sea serpent" had been captured near Bermuda Islands and taken to the New York Aquarium than came a story about a swordfish attacking a fisherman's boat and sawing his way through the hull, placing the occupant a mere of the sea.

was followed quickly by another narrative from another place of how an Indiana visitor was pursued by a man-eating shark, eight feet long and duly ferocious, as every well-regulated man-eating shark should be (on paper), when he detailed for duty around the summer resorts to furnish excitement for the people along the board walk and the verandas.

These stories from the seashore are imperishable. They are as pure and as false, as the ancient joke about the way a man's shoes from the gazetted when he comes home again though they were buried so under the sea, these "short stories by celebrated authors," these stirring bits of summer fiction, would bob up serenely before the week was over. And the public good-naturedly reads them; but just for the sake of variety, which is the spice of any sea tale, the whiskers of the sea serpent should be changed from blue to green for one season, at least.

Should Attorney-General Knox succeed in checking the combines he will be applauded as much as he has been doubted, and that will make the applause general.

TAKING CARE OF THE POOR CHILDREN.

The 96 children who went to Eureka, Mo., Monday, for a visit to the Children's Industrial Farm will have a memorable two weeks. They go from the crowded districts of the city, where the air is heated and foul, to the open country, where the air is fresh and invigorating and where there is plenty of sunshines and nourishing food. This is the second set of children to go to the country, and the managers of the association hope to send 10 more during the summer.

The associations like that of the Children's Industrial Farm, which take the little ones out of the slums of the city to the country, do good service. They improve the children physically, mentally and morally. They give them renewed strength and better views of life. They give them beneficial associations for a time which, on the impressionable mind of childhood, work for good.

But we must bear in mind the poor babies who must remain in the city, especially the destitute sick, one of whose first necessities is ice to relieve their sufferings from the heat and preserve their food. All of the children cannot go to the country. Those who go cannot stay. A large part of the season of heat must be passed in the crowded tenements.

The Post-Dispatch Free Ice Fund will supply ice for the destitute sick, especially the children. It will save many lives and make the summer weather bearable for hundreds who have no means to buy ice. The Post-Dispatch appeals to all St. Louisans to contribute something to the Free Ice Fund. What will you give?

There is large surprise that the effect of the law taxing colored margarine 10 cents has come in advance of the price of rainbow butter from 4 and 5 cents to 14 and 15 cents. Instead of oleomargarine, we may now be eating an aged article of butter that looks and tastes as if it were fresh.

THE STANDARD STYLE.

Dr. Clara Bruse of Cincinnati proposes a standard costume for women.

"My idea," says the lady, "is to have one style of dress that will always be recognized as being in style, no matter how many new fashions are introduced."

Dr. Bruse believes human nature out of account.

There is a perpetual struggle going on among women—and men, too, for that matter—to be the first to follow the mode of "superior people."

The superior woman must distinguish herself by a gown or hat different from any other. In no other way can her superiority be published. But no sooner does she find and put on the unique, than other women, eager to be thought superior, copy her modes, which thus becomes the fashion.

Fashion is merely the effect of this desire to seem superior, to appear to belong to the "best society." Not to be superior, mind you, but to really belong to the best society. That is not possible for all. The appearance is enough.

Now will women give up the appearance of superiority for the sake of convenience such as the "standard style"? Some there are, no doubt, who would be glad to escape the iron law of fashion with its apes, follies and expenses. But are they numerous enough to make the standard anything but a fleeting fad?

There was not only a Babcock low-tariff legislation by Congress, but a little reciprocity was denied the Cubans. The high-tariff idea reigns in Congress, whatever the people may think of subsidizing trusts or of Mr. McKinley's ideas of extending our commerce.

The army and navy expenses have swelled the congressional appropriations to the present enormous figures. To be an aggressive world power and subjugate whatever weak peoples may come in our way, we must necessarily greatly increase our war preparations.

With the Pennsylvania, Missouri, Kansas and Minnesota Republican platforms calling for a second term for President Roosevelt, and Boss Platt's assurance that the New York Republicans will also call for him, the T. R. boom is looking quite healthy.

The Filipino readily agrees with the poet who writes, "There's a fierce gray bird, with a bending beak, with an angry eye and a startling shriek." His idea of the American eagle is very different from ours.

Though Gen. Wheaton, on arriving in San Francisco, said he believed that cholera in the Philippines was well under control, the telegraph, with later news, declares it to be spreading alarmingly.

Thirty-six grade crossings in Chicago are to be done away with and more than seven miles of railway track are to be elevated. This will give a large number of people a chance to live to old age.

The Philippine business is highly creditable to us; but, on the other hand, we are making preparations for the greatest industrial triumph ever known—the World's Fair of 1904.

As the President has proclaimed the restoration of peace in the Philippine archipelago, let us not strain our patriotism by supposing that all is not yet lovely in our islands.

Strong and Gained on the Day—
Inquiry for Missouri Trust.Granite Bimetallic was made the object of concentrated attack by bears on the local exchange. The market movedThe absence of a recent report from the Montana mine caused the selling, which has been steadily increasing since the price declined. After a close of $2.02 bid and $2.10 asked Monday the stock was offered at $1.97 yesterday's opening. Two hundred shares sold at this figure, and the price continued to weaken and sold at $1.95.
Its close was $1.90 bid.The market, however, was generally strong, with the exception of transactions in the smaller stocks.The most prominent firmness was in Third National, which advanced 1/4 to $10 1/2 in a fairly large manner at that figure and gained on the day. Small buying was witnessed in this security.National Bank of Commerce was on a point to point basis, and the same was true of the Banking Lincoln Trust, not an improvement was recorded among the trust company groups. Sales were monotonously made at previous prices.Of note was the fact that the demand for Title-Guaranty Trust was a shade better.Missouri-Edison Electric company brought
